

SYSTEM / 01

Farrice Cain

Premium Minimal personal-brand system.

Quiet enough for the judgment to stay in front.

LINKEDIN · CONTENT · OFFER · FUTURE ASSETS

INTERNAL BRAND IDEA

Stronger arguments for honest products.

Not a newly approved public tagline. A decision rule for what belongs in the brand.

STAND FOR

Honest products, real proof, sharper campaign arguments.

REFUSE

Weak products made louder and fairy-dust doses turned heroic.

DECIDE

What the campaign should argue before more creative is produced.

Honest products should not whisper.

ONE PARENT · ONE POINT OF VIEW · ONE FLAGSHIP OFFER

FARRICE CAIN

Category point of view

The reason to follow: product truth, buyer belief, and the argument before the assets.

The Angle Map

The flagship paid expression—not the whole identity.

If the offer disappeared, the person and point of view must still make sense.

PRIMARY BUYER

Established supplement + performance brands with one live message decision.

THEY HAVE

A real product and approved evidence.

THEY FACE

A launch, retail push, reformulation, repositioning, or creative cycle.

THEY NEED

One campaign argument chosen before the team funds more production.

NOT FOR

Pre-revenue ideas · finished campaign production · unsupported products · performance guarantees · replacement of qualified review

USE LIVED AUTHORITY EXACTLY

Category fluency without borrowed performance proof.

WHAT THIS EARNS

Fluency in goals, product choice, labels, doses, promises, and the distance between desire and support.

WHAT IT DOES NOT EARN

ROAS, conversion, revenue, medical, scientific, legal, regulatory, or compliance authority.

TWO LANES

Depth creates recognition. Lived experience keeps it human.

01

The decision before the creative

Hooks versus angles · message fatigue disguised as creative fatigue · why production cannot resolve an undecided argument

02

Product truth a buyer can believe

Proof scope · formula transparency · dose judgment · where approved language stops and qualified review begins

Retail and coaching are lived texture inside the lanes—not a third public identity lane.

CANDIDATE RHYTHM · 2 POINT OF VIEW · 1 LIVED/DEMO · 1 CONVERSION

VOICE INVARIANTS

Sound spoken. Make the distinction. Own the recommendation.

USE

Recognizable scenes
One thought per paragraph
Plain distinctions

Clear recommendations + trade-offs

AVOID

Strategy jargon
Synthetic Farrice voice
Generic prestige claims
Endless options
Biography dumps
Inflated performance proof

Farrice owns the final voice pass. Writers may structure and tighten; they may not fabricate personality.

One family. One tonal system. Structure before decoration.

TYPOGRAPHY

SAME SYSTEM. DIFFERENT JOB.

The person leads evergreen authority. The offer leads offer-specific assets.

MASTER-BRAND MODE

FARRICE CAIN

Point of view, lived observation, teardown, or framework.
Offer reference only when relevant.

OFFER MODE

Three campaign arguments and one lead recommendation. Farrice Cain remains the author.

Use the three-route motif only when choices are truly being compared.

ONE PATH

Recognition earns the click. Proof earns attention. The offer earns the DM.

SIX FORMATS

Enough to repeat. Small enough to stay coherent.

01	LinkedIn banner	Launch-mode profile cover	02	Featured / article	Belief and offer covers
03	Single insight	One argument in the feed	04	Document / carousel	One point per page
05	Angle / decision	Show the deliverable grammar	06	Proof boundary	Teach the evidence line

Every format must survive at 320 px, preserve one-third open space, and carry no more than three hierarchy levels.

APPROVAL STATE

Preserve the primary. Keep candidates visible. Never let rejected work drift back in.

LOCKED	CANDIDATE	REJECTED
Farrice master brand P2-01 visual parent P1 B copy primary One offer + one CTA Zero-proof boundary	Evergreen banner line Photography frequency Four-piece editorial rhythm All new template exports	C-style abstraction Editorial Cartography V0 Fiction as client proof Unconfirmed credentials Decorative route coding

External action still requires separate approval.
