

SAN FERNANDO VALLEY
FROM THE VALLEY

the friend who happens to sell real estate... from here.

what i built for you, how it works, what it asks of you, and how it turns into clients.

SAN FERNANDO VALLEY
FROM THE VALLEY

four words, then plain english.

everything tonight uses these four. nothing else needs a definition.

1 a reel.

a forty-second video of you talking, filmed on your phone. it's how strangers find you.

2 a carousel.

a post you swipe through, seven slides. people save these and send them to a friend. it's how strangers trust you.

3 the stamp.

a small mark on every post: the neighborhood and the zip. over time your grid becomes a map of the valley with you on it.

4 the file.

three one-page guides in your look. you send them to anyone who writes. no form, no catch.

FROM THE VALLEY

a post is a billboard. a system is a door.

most agents post and hope. this is built so every post has a reason, a job, and a next step.

1 every post starts with something real.

a rule that changed, a train that's coming, a quote that moved. on your streets, this week. never a trend.

2 every post has one job.

one person writes to you. not likes, not views. an address, a question, or just "hi, i've been meaning to reach out." the door is open on every post, and people learn that.

3 every reply is already written.

when they write, you answer the same evening from a saved reply, in your voice. paste, add their name, send.

4 what they write back decides what's next.

the questions in your DMs are the plan for next month. nothing is made in a vacuum.

people don't follow an agent.
they follow a person who knows the block.

1 you're from here.

van nuys, sherman oaks, the boulevard, the stations. every post is stamped with a neighborhood and a zip. nobody else on your feed can say that honestly.

2 you translate the scary parts.

reserve studies, buydowns, backup insurance. in your posts they become the savings account, paying a little now, the state's fire policy. nobody has to feel dumb to follow you.

3 you protect people.

your own words: "i'm here for you. that's my job. i do this to protect you and your best interest." that line ends everything now.

FROM THE VALLEY

the month, not the post.

WEEK	THE PIECE	THE SUBJECT	WHO IT'S FOR
SEPT 1	the building has to qualify too	money	anyone buying a condo
SEPT 2	the train down van nuys blvd	the neighborhood	everyone who lives here
SEPT 3	the insurance quote before the offer	the process	hillside and move-up buyers
SEPT 4	just breathe	you	anyone awake at 11pm
OCT 1	when the move-up seller should list SKETCH	timing	sellers
OCT 2	a $2M listing, in your other voice SKETCH	a home	luxury buyers
OCT 3	the downsizer's story SKETCH	a life change	empty-nesters
OCT 4	a client's first year in the house SKETCH	a win	everyone

what repeats: your face, the stamp, the close. what never repeats: the subject, or who it's for. first-time buyers are the door people know you by. the whole valley walks through it.

how one post becomes a conversation.

01 · SOMETHING REAL HAPPENS
on your streets, this week

02 · YOU TALK FOR A MINUTE
one voice memo, your words

03 · WE BUILD IT
one video, one slideshow, in the look

04 · IT OPENS THE DOOR
an address, a question, or just "hi"

05 · YOU ANSWER
the reply is already written

06 · WE LISTEN
what they wrote decides what's next six steps, once a week, paced to your month. the only new work is the minute you talk. everything else is built from it, never before it.

SAN FERNANDO VALLEY
FROM THE VALLEY

we count replies, not likes.

most posts get looked at and that's it. that's fine. only one kind of response counts, and the system already knows the difference.

DOESN'T COUNT

a like.

"love this!"

a new follower.

a view from someone in ohio.

nice. we don't chase it. it doesn't change the plan.

COUNTS

a DM with an address.

"is this true for my building?"

"we're looking this fall."

"hi, i've been meaning to reach out."

a friend tagged with a question.

that's a person. saved reply,
same evening, from you.

SAN FERNANDO VALLEY
FROM THE VALLEY

how this turns into clients.

four stages. the shape is the same as your referral business, pointed at strangers. the numbers are yours to fill in after the first month; until then nothing is promised.

1	people who see it reels bring the strangers. this is the only number that isn't about you.	YOUR NUMBER we'll read it off instagram
2	people who write an address, a question, a "hi." every post ends with the door open, so the people who've been meaning to reach out finally do.	YOUR NUMBER how many write now, per post?
3	real conversations you replied the same evening. they replied back. a showing, a lender call, a "let's talk friday."	YOUR NUMBER you already know this from referrals
4	closings same as always. the conversation is the pipeline; nothing here changes how you close.	YOUR NUMBER what a normal month looks like the honest version: if ten people write in a month and three become real conversations, you've added a second referral source that never sleeps. we'll know the real ratio in thirty days.

SAN FERNANDO VALLEY
FROM THE VALLEY

what “the go-to in the valley” looks like on your grid.

1 a series people collect.

condos this month, the train next, a $2M listing in your other voice.
people collect a series. they scroll past a post.

2 a stamp on every post.

the neighborhood and the zip, same spot every time. recognizable at thumbnail size before anyone reads a word.

3 your face on the cover, real valley places inside.

no stock, no orange, no serif-over-a-warm-photo like the other sixteen agents. the navy line drawings are yours alone.

4 the same close, every time.

“i’m here for you. that’s my job.” in 90 days it’s the thing people quote back to you, and nobody wonders whether you have time for them.

SAN FERNANDO VALLEY
FROM THE VALLEY

your week, about three hours.

- 1 one voice memo.
sixty seconds on the topic, in your words. everything gets written from it, never before it.
- 2 one filming sitting.
both reels in one go, kitchen or car. the carousel goes out the day after its reel and does the saving-and-sending work.
- 3 reply the same evening.
comments and DMs are where the pipeline starts. the reply is written; you paste and add a name. minutes, not writing. people learn you answer, and that becomes the reputation.
- 4 when a post does nothing, nothing happens.
it's not a report card. we read the month, not the tuesday. one quiet post changes no plan.

SAN FERNANDO VALLEY
FROM THE VALLEY

the slow weeks are part of the plan.

three closings and a sick kid is most months. the system is built for that month, not the perfect one.

1 there is no streak to protect.

no post is ever "late." a week you can't film is a week that goes quiet, and nobody notices but us.

2 the file keeps working.

anyone who writes still gets the three guides and a reply. that part never needs you on camera.

3 a good reel reruns.

the one that worked in september goes out again in november with a new stamp. nobody remembers; new people see it.

4 it resumes when you're back.

one voice memo restarts the whole thing. no makeup posts, no guilt, same rhythm.

YOU

talk for a minute.

film in one sitting.

answer the same evening.

say "that's not me" and it's gone.

nothing posts you haven't read.

US

find what's real this week.

write it from your memo.

post it, on schedule.

read every reply that comes back.

adjust next month from what people asked.

you never write a caption from scratch.

this is your business. every word is yours before it's anyone's.

SAN FERNANDO VALLEY
FROM THE VALLEY

what they get when they write: the valley file.

content brings strangers to your DMs. this is what you hand them.
three one-page guides in this look, your number at the bottom, good for a year. you send it because they wrote. no form, no catch.

1 the four things i read before you write.

the condo guide. the savings account, the meeting notes, the building's insurance, who's behind on dues. one page, plain words.

2 the insurance question before the offer.

the hillside guide. what the october 15 change means, the date detail, what the backup policy actually covers.

3 the 11pm rate note.

the calm one. just breathe, the three morning questions, what a buydown is in one sentence.

4 pinned to your profile: start here.

the first thing a stranger sees after a reel makes them curious. who you help, and the file. a bio line that says it in ten words.

SAN FERNANDO VALLEY
FROM THE VALLEY

what we need from you.

1 three phone photos.

you on a van nuys sidewalk. you at a condo building's front door. you holding an HOA packet. they replace the placeholders on the covers.

2 your real take on the train.

the light-rail piece has an opinion drafted for you. say it your way on a voice memo and it gets rebuilt around that.

3 how many you can film in a sitting.

the plan assumes two reels and one carousel a week. if that's too many, say so and it shrinks.

4 your three numbers.

how many people write when you post now. how many warm conversations become clients. what a normal month looks like. that fills in board 8.

SAN FERNANDO VALLEY
FROM THE VALLEY

if you say yes, this is how it runs.

1 this week.

three photos, one voice memo on the train, your three numbers. we swap your photos in and post reel 1 and the condo carousel.

2 every week after.

one voice memo from you, two reels and one carousel from us, in the look. you reply the same evening with the saved replies.

3 every quarter.

a short note goes to the people who already know you, in your words, about what changed in the valley. a new neighborhood gets its own stamp. the file gets a new page.

4 what you never do.

post daily. chase trends. say "top producer." write a caption from scratch. explain a lender word without a plain one next to it.

SAN FERNANDO VALLEY
FROM THE VALLEY

the first post is ready.

- 1 reel 1: the building has to qualify too.
"your credit can be perfect... and the condo still falls through." forty seconds, kitchen or car.
- 2 then the condo carousel, the next day.
seven slides in your look, you on the cover and the close.
- 3 then the reply.
when the first address arrives, the DM is already written in your recap voice. paste, personalize, send.

everything works out exactly the way it's supposed to.

SAN FERNANDO VALLEY
FROM THE VALLEY

the saved reply, when an address arrives.

save both in instagram under saved replies. paste, add their name, send within the hour. the routing question goes second, never first.

REPLY 1 · THE ADDRESS CAME IN

got it... give me a day with the numbers and i'll come back with what i'd read first, what i'd ask the listing agent, and what we do next. we'll go from there.

REPLY 2 · THE NEXT DAY, WITH THE NUMBERS

okay, i read it. here's what i'd read first, here's the one question i'd ask the listing agent, and here's what i'd do next. are you actually looking this fall, or just keeping an eye on things? either is fine... i just want to point you the right way.
